ASM San Diego Goes Hollywood!

Presenting ...

"No Highway in the Sky" (1951)
starring James Stewart & Marlene Dietrich

JAMES STEWART and MARLENE DIETRICH go behind the scenes of commercial aviation in this gripping, suspense-packed classic about one man's fight to prevent disaster in the air. Based on Nevil Shute's popular novel, No Highway, the cast also adds plenty of humor and romance to this "amusing, intelligent" film. (Newsweek)

Eccentric scientist Theodore Honey (STEWART) has no proof, but is convinced that England's new Reindeer planes will fall apart after 1440 hours of flying time. When he finds himself on a Reindeer that has reached the stress point, his frantic warning rings true for a movie star passenger (DIETRICH) and a stewardess (GLYNIS JOHNS) who later support his drastic action to permanently ground the aircraft. Theodore's ability to extrapolate an S-N curve with extraordinary accuracy saves the day in probably the only film that stars a metallurgist as the leading character.
